The World Food Programme Country Director El Khadir Daloum, has called upon stakeholders to build capacity of districts for better delivery of services, during a meeting of Regional Member District and Civil Society Organisation Leaders at Muni University on Wednesday 18th November 2020. He appreciated Muni University management and expressed happiness that the Memorandum of Understanding between Muni and WFP is working well.

Muni University is one of the West Nile Development Association (WENDA) stakeholders. WENDA is an association of all the District Local Governments in West Nile region with a mission to promote sustainable development and peaceful coexistence through empowerment of development actors.

The meeting was meant to provide opportunity for the regional leaders to join forces with other stakeholders in addressing challenges that face the region and for the leaders to explore critical pathways to better recover from the COVID crisis, climate change challenges and seek systematic solutions to fix the regional poverty and economic development architecture.

Training on ENTERPRISE DEVELOPMENT

Participants at the Training

The Stanbic Business Incubator carried out a 5 day enterprise development training at Muni University Business Incubation Center aimed at enhancing local Small and Medium Sized Entrepreneur's (SMEs) capacities and promoting business resilience and sustainability.

This is an initiative under the Youth4Business Innovation and entrepreneurship facility which is an innovative instrument developed by the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) in partnership with Stanbic Uganda Holdings Limited to promote impact driven entrepreneurship, foster innovation and leverage business solutions to address the youth unemployment challenge.

This is a five-year initiative running over the period August 2020 to June 2025 and targeting youth aged 18 to 35 years.

It is targeting youth owned enterprises in the areas of Agriculture, Manufacturing, Tourism, Renewable energy, ICT and creative Industry.
