AMBASSADOR GRACE AKELLO AT MUNI UNIVERSITY

Uganda’s High Commissioner to New Dheli –India, Singapore, Bangladesh and Nepal HE Grace Akello visited Muni University on 9th December 2020 and donated 19 copies of books she authored for the University Library.

She said their mission as a government is to accelerate the development of the West Nile region, because the people of West Nile are gifted in the areas of Engineering, Medicine Technology and are also good business people. Muni University she said should tap on this resource of West-Nilers being technologists.

She said due to its strategic location as a business hub to four countries in the neighbourhood, namely; DR Congo, South Sudan, Kenya, and Central African Republic; and with engagement of more technologies in agriculture, the region can supply the entire African States with agricultural products.

She pledged to introduce Muni to higher institutes in India which she said will be of great profit to the university, adding that in India, institutes are considered higher than universities unlike in Uganda which is the opposite.

She also promised to introduce Muni to Annan University which is a big university for possible collaborations.

NEWLY APPOINTED STAFF INTERACT WITH TOP MANAGEMENT

The newly appointed staff of Muni University on 10th December 2020 interacted with the Top management.

The University Secretary /Accounting Officer Rev. Fr. Dr. Odubuker Picho Epiphany welcomed the new Staff to Muni University and urged them to ensure there's quality in everything they do.

"Professionalism is key, do what you've come to do in a manner that is appreciated by society. Be honest, we've come together to pursue common goals and objectives, be committed and dedicated in doing the right thing, to transform anything, you must be innovative, whatever we do here is on behalf of the 42 Million Ugandans". He advised.

The Vice Chancellor Professor Christine Dranzoa welcomed the new staff to Muni and congratulated them upon their success

She said Universities are centres for knowledge free exchange of ideas, innovation and where good things happen adding knowledge and wisdom starts with the knowledge of God. She urged the Lecturers to ensure students start learning online. COVID has had effect on delivery of higher education.

She provided highlights on the strategic focus of the university and encouraged the staff to work together to achieve the vision of the university.

The Deputy Vice Chancellor Academic Affairs Prof. Anguma Simon Katrini showered praises on Seed Global Health (SGH) during their partnership quarterly review meeting at Muni University on 16th December 2020.

He attributed the starting of the Nursing Program at the University largely to the partnership with Seed Global Health and acknowledged the immense contribution of SEED which he said came in handy. He said COVID brought a lot of challenges and SEED did not abandon the partners, they donated a number of items to support in the fight against COVID and still continue to support through various ways.

“Muni University will forever be grateful to SEED because this partnership has propelled us far and the support has boosted the growth of Faculty of Health Sciences. A lot of good things have transpired through this partnership, I encourage this relationship to move further until the vision of MU, SEED and ARRH are realised”, he noted.

He also appreciated the management of Arua Regional Referral Hospital revealing, the Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery is underway, which will strengthen the relationship with the hospital adding that the current Nursing Students cannot graduate if they have not done clinical practices and this is attributed to ARRH.

SEED QUARTERLY REVIEW MEETING

The partners shared progress reports and made discussions on Strengths, Challenges and way forward. They expressed much gratitude to SEED for their remarkable support.

According to SEED' Program and Monitoring Evaluation and Learning Manager Allan Nsubuga, SEED in Uganda is in partnership with 5 different Institutions and their focus is on developing long term partnerships.
